What's in a name? The McIntosh name breathes tradition, a tradition of excellence. Simply the best has always been the aim for famous McIntosh designers like Sydney Corderman or Larry Fish.

Designing state-of-the-art electronics requires the very best circuits & components money can buy – and that's exactly what McIntosh consistently did over the past 50 years in order to ensure performance at its best.

It's the only way to make sure that the end user gets this special McIntosh feeling, for many years to come.

McIntosh, since 1949

Stewart Filmscreen Corporation®

The screen is the centerpiece of the home cinema.

Think about it. Once you have decided you want a home theater, ask yourself, "What is it I really want?" A great picture? Incredible sound? A place in my home that literally recreates the experience of a movie theatre?"

It only makes sense to have an Academy Award-winning Stewart Filmscreen as the centerpiece of your home cinema. Stewart Filmscreen manufactures screens that out-live projector and stereo technology, so make sure you invest a little more in choosing the correct screen.
